

SUPPORT SHARE & CARE FOR NATIONAL NONPROFIT DAY

Today, August 17th, is National Nonprofit Day, recognizing the positive impact that nonprofits have on communities around the world.

Keep scrolling to see a video on how your generosity helped Oasis launch a new project to empower girls in Kashmir.

National Nonprofit Day was first established to commemorate the signature of the Tariff Act into law, which provided exemptions for nonprofit organizations and charitable institutions and paved the way for the work being done today. Despite the unprecedented events of the year, it is estimated that charitable giving topped more than $471 billion in the U.S. in 2020. Today we recognize National Nonprofit Day as a way to honor the efforts of nonprofits around the world, celebrate the generosity of our contributors, and share the good work being done through Share & Care and our partners.

A Reason to Give

With a gift to Share & Care, you can help us continue to deliver relief and rehabilitation to thousands of people affected by the COVID-19 pandemic. You can bring lifesaving healthcare to mothers and babies and enable our volunteers to cultivate sustainable solutions that will uplift entire villages. You can provide at-risk students with resources to stay in school and pursue higher education, and you can empower marginalized women and girls.

Oasis Movement, with the support and partnership of Share & Care, launched their “Saamarthya - Power of Girls” project to empower girls as community leaders. They have been working to fight gender inequality and reaffirm the belief that girls can do anything.
