A Gift That Gives Back

As we say goodbye to 2025 and welcome a new year, all of us at the Share & Care Foundation wish you and your loved ones health, happiness, and peace.

Thanks to generous supporters like you, we are getting close to our $250,000 year-end goal to empower marginalized communities across India. There is still time to help us finish strong.

Recently, during a program celebration, one of our seniors at our Women Empowerment project, Annu didi, shared a teaching that stayed with the girls—and with us. She spoke of four forms of friendship: friendship with oneself, with the Divine, with nature, and with the Creator.

*“If you can befriend a tree,” she was told,
“you will never feel alone in life.”*

That simple idea has become a quiet practice of courage and hope for many of our girls, reminding them that they are supported by mentors, by community, and by a wider world that believes in them.

Your support is part of that “friendship chain.” Each gift you make extends that circle of care to students, women, and families who might otherwise feel alone in their struggles.

Today is your last chance to make a 2025 tax-deductible donation. Your gift of any amount will support our education, healthcare, and women’s empowerment programs for marginalized communities in India.
